

The European Congress for Integrative Medicine Announce Call for Abstracts – Deadline 23 March 2020

The ECIM Committee of experts invite you to submit an abstract for presentation at Europe's cutting-edge integrative medicine event to be held in the UK for the first time in 2020.

With the shift towards a more integrative approach to healthcare gaining momentum, the ECIM Committee encourages all those working in the field of integrative medicine to play a part in this movement by contributing an abstract for oral or poster presentations.

All interested parties are invited to connect with fellow colleagues and share their evidence-led research and case studies at ECIM 2020. Successful abstracts submitted in the required format will also be published in the European Journal of Integrative Medicine \(EuJIM\).

The congress is a catalyst to raising awareness of the health and wellbeing benefits of the integration of conventional medicine, lifestyle, complementary and traditional therapies. ECIM 2020 will feature a wide range of exciting presentations, discussions and networking opportunities with healthcare practitioners, academics, researchers and experts in the field of integrative medicine.
